FROM THE QUARTERDECK

OCTOBER 2017

IN CASE YOU MISSED IT...

On Labor Day, approximately 50 Club members gathered upstairs in the Main Clubhouse for a first ever “mid-year” update. The hour-long event was designed to share with members our challenges, goals, and accomplishments of 2017.

At the meeting, I started off reviewing the division of labor of our paid employees. Many of you have by now met Brian Ankrom, our new general manager. Brian’s focus is primarily on-site administrative duties (reviewing invoices, coordinating vendors, staffing, etc), assisting Club volunteers and Board members with regattas, socials, weddings, and other events, and serving as the primary point of contact for members, guests and visitors.

Long-time employee Dixon Cole is the operations manager, focusing on general maintenance (dockside and shore side), supervision of contractors (cleanings, grass cutting, project installations, etc), and supporting the General Manager and Executive Secretary Meg Rock.

I also updated the Club on the Jackson Creek east dock project. We are well on our way to reaching our fundraising goal of $150,000, and anticipate breaking ground on this project later in 2017, with a completion date of Opening Day 2018. Thank you to those who already have made generous contributions. More detailed updates on fundraising and the project itself will appear on our website, in the weekly FBYC emails and in the November Log.

Vice Commodore Rob Whittemore highlighted some of the new programs and activities we have promoted this year. Specifically, excellent progress was made under the stewardship of Karen Soule with our women’s sailing events and our Club-owned boat program. The Junior Division launched a highly successful 420 Junior Race

Team, in collaboration with Christ Church School. Our younger members became much more engaged through fun, new “YAM” activities, including the first ever cornhole competition held during the Stingray Point Regatta. And last but not least, our Friday night socials upstairs in the Main Clubhouse became an enjoyable meeting point for members after a week at work.

Joe Roos, Club secretary, updated us on membership trends. His analysis shows that those who have resigned have no apparent common reason; those that join are generally younger than our current membership, and 95% of new members express interest in all areas of Club activity.

Veronica Hinckle, our finance chair, updated us on the Club finances. She reported that we are on track to finish the year within our budget; however, data she produced from 2010 to present make it clear that our dues are not keeping pace with inflation. Addressing this will be an important discussion in our upcoming Finance Committee meetings.

Rear Commodore Paul Wash updated attendees on issues relating to the Fishing Bay boat ramp. The ramp has deteriorated such that launching and retrieving boats is becoming difficult. Paul is in the process of soliciting requests for proposals in order to best evaluate solutions and costs. This project will likely become a priority in 2018, since use of the ramp affects many aspects of the Club.

Even as our season winds down, we have more events to look forward to: Cruising Division activities, the Indian Summer Regatta, Offshore Fall Series, the Laser Masters, the Closing Day Regatta and Oyster Roast, and of course, the Annual Meeting and Commodore’s Ball. Here’s to a strong finish to the year!

Warm regards,
David Lennarz Commodore

2017 ANNUAL ONE DESIGN REGATTA

Rob Whittemore and crew were the recipients of the Hawksworth Memorial Trophy as overall winner of the 2017 Annual One Design Regatta. Rob highlighted how special the award was to him, as John Hawksworth had a formative role in Rob's sailing during his childhood and it meant that much more to him to win the award. He won the award by winning the most races in the largest fleet, with almost all bullets.

NEW WEBSITE LAUNCH - NEW HOME PAGE DESIGN
BY STROTHER SCOTT

We launched a new www.fbyc.net home page design on September 15, 2017 and have switched to Django technology - leaving Zope. On mobile platforms the layout responds to the browser width and sections of the page stack lower on the page.

The home page now has a Carousel Slide Show of usually five things of interest at the top. Each image has short information and links to learn more. Under the Carousel is our News Feed, on the right sidebar is links to the next 10 events, and below that, are links to Recent Results. Other menu items work substantially the same.

On the mobile design, the little burgee on the top left corner can be clicked to go to the home page.

We now use Wagtail - a Content Management System that works within our Django framework. All public and most member facing content is now in that system. You may be interested to know that Wagtail now holds 5,349 FBYC webpages consisting of about 2,200 news postings, 1,211 event pages, and many results and pages. In those last three years our programmer has worked 1,200 hours on this project.

We expect you will run across bad links at various times, as any link previously hard-coded to www.fbyc.net will now be broken as the content will all have different URLs.

SPECIAL NOTICES / NEW MEMBERS / RACING

We have attacked them aggressively but we will not be perfect. Please let me know as you run across them.

We still have many pages that are not yet converted. The old site is now at <https://old.fbyc.net>. I plan to add links to the menu to send you to unconverted pages on the old site, plus remove links and content from to old site to make the information available only in one place. Board members and a few others will occasionally need to use the old webpages, but is due course we hope to move or abandon all old pages.

WELCOME NEW MEMBERS

Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Morel (Pierre and Vanessa) – Henrico, VA: Pierre grew up sailing 470 in the summer and completed in the French college match racing circuit from 1995 to 2000. He also participated in the Edhec and Spi Dauphine races during the same time. He spent summers captaining sailboats from 30 to 45 feet, organizing cruises with some friends that took them in the Mediterranean, all around Brittany and across the channel to England. Vanessa learned to sail at the Washington Sailing Marina obtaining her ASA110. She continues to love sailing and would be interested in having more exposure to racing. Both of their daughters, Lily (10) and Caroline (13) participated in FBYC's Junior Week program. The girls had a great time and are excited to continue learning to sail. The family looks forward to joining the Club as a way to expand their sense of community and giving their time and talent to ensure the community remains strong and the traditions and opportunities endure.

FLYING SCOT PROS AND RC DELIVER BIG TIME BY RON JENKINS

2017 Flying Scot Principle Race Officers (PRO) and Race Committees (RC) have consistently delivered—in great and not so great weather conditions. We often complete five races per day. That's a lot of starts, roundings, tacks, spin sets and gibes—a clearly awesome opportunity to improve skills. Smiling faces and after race banter confirms the job was well done.

Get rolled at the last mark? Lots of sterns ahead? No worries, work on technique until you reach the finish line, then get into the next start sequence.

How do our PROs do this? Many are not small boat sailors. What is the secret? Here 's my take.

Our Race Committees generally:

- Communicate with us (the Skippers)—determine what do we like/want/need to have fun
 - Course length, type, and geographic location
 - What is the optimal tradeoff among clear air, wave height, and wind speed
- Let us race—keep us moving—if winds oscillate, set marks to nominal—let us deal with it. Course changes are great if manpower and fleet separation allows; otherwise, wait till next race.
- Consider safety—provide adequate safety boat, watch the weather
- Give us an audible pre sequence alert—small boat crews appreciate mini blocks of time to relax or regroup
- Know when to go in. High heat/humidity, big winds and waves, long sail to/from course are tiring. Thunder and lightning speak for themselves.

Last chance of 2017 season to sail with the fleet that is making One Design Great again is October 7. See you then.

CRUISING

CRUISING INTO FALL
BY TONY SAKOWSKI

The FBYC cruise activities began on Thursday, August 17 with a dinner at Kate and Tony Sakowski's cottage. Vice Commodore Rob Whittemore addressed the group during the cocktail hour regarding the potential new east floating docks and other matters involving FBYC.

On Friday, we set sail for Onancock, aided by a southwest wind that allowed for some nice sailing most of the time, but required the aid of the motor some of the time. Only two sailors had soft groundings between #9 and #11 marks in the creek but this probably was because they didn't read with comprehension the clearly written note from George Burke! (I think that email was erased by me.)

At 4:30 p.m., we enjoyed a wine tasting at the North Street Market in Onancock; at 5:45 the cocktail hour began under two tents on the wharf (provided by the Onancock Harbormaster). Lots of tasty appetizers were enjoyed by all. That night we were greeted by a series of thunderstorms.

Awakening Sat AM to hot donuts was a treat provided by the Harbormaster!

On Saturday at 9:45 a.m., the "party limousine" arrived and transported 17 of us to the Wallops Island Space Center, where we enjoyed the self-guided tour, watched planes practice 'touch and go' approaches for carrier training, and learned lots about the facility that launches the majority of U.S. rockets into space.

At 5:30 p.m., we began the cocktail hour and appetizers under the tents. Lots of lively discussion and interaction with the Walker's grandchildren.

At 7 p.m., we gathered at Bizzotto's Restaurant for dinner and fellowship. We had a fun day.

Sunday AM, we were all on our way back to DVA, with light winds and sunshine. Thanks to all who participated, especially Kate, for putting together the Thursday night dinner..

As well, we should all appreciate the ongoing help from the Onancock Harbormaster, Assistant Harbormaster (Deb) and staff for their help in making our trip a treat.

YAM INAUGURAL CORNHOLE TOURNAMENT A HUGE SUCCESS

Over Labor Day weekend, the YAMs rocked the house on Sunday evening after Stingray Regatta racing in an incredibly well-attended Cornhole tournament! A total of 12 Teams competed for the ultimate bragging rights and, after some creative bracket methods, when all was said and done we had three podium finishing teams with a mix of FBYC members, visitors from other clubs, and FBYC member prospects.

Having debriefed with the weekend's event coordinators feedback was unanimous this was, without question, an awesome addition to one of our preeminent events. Furthermore, the YAM's beautiful new custom cornhole boards can be reused for years to come. Congratulations to our victors as follows: First Place: Stuart Kegan & Katie Yudkin; Second Place: Tommy Roper & Friend; Third Place: Miles Kimbrough & Arch Durham

BIG thanks to our contributing YAM committee organizers for making this a great success (Abigail and Massey Whorley for boards and tasty provisions; and Jon Deutsch for great tunes and bracket council)
