THE COMMODORE'S ADDRESS

ENGAGEMENT AT FBYC

As I have said before, my family stumbled upon FBYC by happy coincidence. We were interested in sailing, but we certainly had no experience, no background, and no easy point of entry into sailing as a family activity. Our parents weren't sailors, and only a few folks we knew had ever been sailing. FBYC made it possible for us to all learn and grow into the sport of sailing, and the community that goes with it. Showing up with the openness to try something new, and the willingness to spend the time learning the skills and getting to know the people has paid huge dividends for us. And thank goodness for the patience of all the people we met in those early days!

Being engaged has made all the difference. And our engagement has definitely changed over time. For the first 10 plus years of being involved at the Club, we mostly were engaged in whatever our kids were doing with the junior division, with a good bit of One Design sailing and an occasional foray onto the Offshore boats thrown in for good measure. The Junior Race team was a full summer endeavor, just to keep up with the practicing, traveling, towing, feeding, and replacing and repairing of broken/lost equipment. Those memories and friendships changed us all for the better. We followed the example of the folks who showed us how to be engaged. And we have seen that investment in time and energy really pay dividends for us all. My adult kids love to sail and consider Fishing Bay one of their happy places. Most of my closest friendships have occurred because of the experiences we have shared at FBYC. Your engagement inspires others to follow along. It is contagious, in the best way.

This was an impromptu parents and kids pirate cruise over to Hole in the Wall. We were scurrying ashore to hide some pirate treasure for the kids to discover. Circa 2011. We were definitely engaged. Some would say committed.

Joe Nelson and his family, and many others, were fully engaged for the Stingray Regatta. I want to thank everyone involved in the event. Joe was our event chair for this signature event for the first time this year, and his entire family stepped up to help. Most of all, I'd like to know how Joe arranged for the weather to be absolutely perfect meaning great wind for 2 of 3 days, and wonderful temperatures. I'm not sure we could ever duplicate those conditions, but they go a long way towards creating a good time. The food and drink were excellent. Julie Ann Wash and David Hinckle created Viking shields for decor, not to mention the epic dragon boat chandelier that hung inside the outdoor tent. The decorations were amazing, as always. The band was a pleasant change and played some rocking music to fuel the Viking energy. The crowd danced and the party was amazing.

Many thanks to our PROs, Len Guenther and Donna Alvis, and all the race committee and support boat crews - you all put on a top shelf racing event, and we are so thankful. Our volunteer sign ups were a bit light for the event, but somehow everyone came together and pulled off a wonderful event for our Club members and guests. Anne Nelson spent many hours as our dedicated Ship's Store manager, and we are grateful for all the time she spent helping Joe and selling merchandise. She jokingly shared that she sold a man a dog collar, and he didn't even own a dog! Way to go Anne. Todd Blekicki has been herding the volunteers to pull this event off since January.

COMMODORE'S ADDRESS | CALENDAR OF EVENTS

Thanks again to everyone. Please continue to engage, volunteer and support the Club so that we can continue to hold these kinds of events.

The end of summer does not mean the fun ends at FBYC. Our calendar is full of engaging activities for you to enjoy. Check the website for all the events, but make sure to sign up for the new October Dock Mixer (October 18), a new social event put together by Caroline Patrick. Joe and Wendy Roos are set to put on a wonderful Closing Day Oyster Roast (October 25). Please sign up to sail and make your best dishes to bring and share. Don't forget to sign up to help. Certain sailing awards will be presented at Closing Day and you won't want to miss it.

Remember to engage - you won't regret it. There is probably a pirate cruise in your future. Or there should be.

MEMBER SPOTLIGHT - GEORGE BURKE

Dr. George Burke Honored for Extraordinary Service to MCV Campus
June 17, 2025
Change can be hard.

Leading successful transitions in any corporate setting takes the kind of individual who understands that power shared is power given, that not everyone will share the same opinions but that everyone's opinions matter.

George W. Burke III, M.D., a VCU School of Medicine alum and former MCV Foundation trustee, is the recipient of the MCV Foundation's Eugene P. Trani Award this year. Photos: Daniel Sangjib Min, MCV Foundation

Enter George W. Burke III, M.D., a VCU School of Medicine alum and former MCV Foundation trustee, who, with his quiet wisdom, extensive medical experience and thoughtful, steadfast demeanor, helped with the transition of the MCV Alumni Association in 2021 from a separate nonprofit to a unified university alumni council.

Dr. Burke was honored with the MCV Foundation's Eugene P. Trani Award during its annual awards event June 16 at The Jefferson Hotel. Established in honor of Eugene P. Trani, Ph.D., who served as president of VCU from 1990 to 2009, this award recognizes exceptional dedication and support of the MCV Campus.

George does not waste words. He is thoughtful, and he listens before he offers his opinions.

~ Ellen Spong, former chair, MCV Foundation Board of Trustees

MEMBERSHIP SPOTLIGHT

Dr. Burke joined the School of Medicine Pulmonary Division — today's Division of Pulmonary Disease and Critical Care Medicine — as an assistant professor in 1977, then in 1979 entered private practice with Pulmonary Associates of Richmond.

Retirement has not slowed his engagement with the MCV Campus, as he continues to teach, fundraise and volunteer within the School of Medicine Office of Admissions.

"I learned leadership by watching Dr. Burke," said Ellen Byrne, D.D.S., Ph.D., who met Dr. Burke through the MCV Alumni Association during a time when he deftly navigated a cultural shift in the organization's mission and outreach.

"Leadership isn't always top-down, in fact, from him I learned that it's bottom-up," she said. "Ultimately what makes a good leader is someone who listens to everyone at the table and enables them to do their best job."

"He's given his time unconditionally," she added. "Time is a commodity that we choose to give, and he has chosen to give it to us."

Ellen Spong, a former chair of the MCV Foundation Board of Trustees, called Dr. Burke a trusted friend and colleague whose measured intuition serves him and the foundation well.

"George does not waste words," Spong said. "He is thoughtful, and he listens before he offers his opinions. If I ever had a challenging situation and needed to run something by a member of a committee or board to get their insight, George will be number one on my list."

Of his involvement with the foundation, she said, "George represents extremely well the medical profession and the work that the foundation is doing."

Pete Sowers, M.D., chairman and CEO of Patient First, has known Dr. Burke since high school. Subsequently, the two men were roommates while in medical school at MCV.

"George has always been very interested in the well-being of others," Dr. Sowers said.

"He's able to marshal others to meet challenges and get things done, and he can engage with anyone," he said. "He's a force to be reckoned with."

Jodi Smith, director of development for VCU's Office of Medical Philanthropy and Alumni Relations, said Dr. Burke is a champion for prospective medical students and remains a steadfast supporter of scholarship fundraising for the next generation of medical professionals.

"Dr. Burke is committed to being a servant," she said. "He never says no, and he truly wants to make the MCV Campus a better place for all our students, our faculty and administration and our patients. He's been the steady hand at the helm of the ship. He's deliberate, honorable and his impact has meant so much to so many people."

ONE DESIGN SAILING Fall 2025

Fall is here and the water is getting a little cooler so dress for the water not the air out there! It is a busy month for One Design sailors. We have had one race in our Fall Series already, Fall OD 1. It was pretty sporty out with gusts to 18kn. which kept our Flying Scot participants to three valiant boats. The Melges 15 sailors showed us what reaching machines they are with a breeze. Exciting sailing! Race Committee set great courses with PRO Jim Raper running 4 races for the 'Scots and 5 for the Melges. Congrats to 'Scot sailor Kevin Drawbaugh who took first in the 'Scot fleet and Melges 15 sailor John Hubbard who took first in the Melges fleet. Excellent grub at the social provided by Matt and Heather Lambert. Check out the results: https://www.regattanetwork.com/event/29070#_newsroom+results

OVER BUT NOT FORGOTTEN - 2025 STINGRAY POINT REGATTA

Labor Day weekend proved to be a sailor's weekend, with the weather perfectly tuned for the Stingray Point Regatta. Better weather could not have been ordered. Both daytime for racing and nighttime for great socials, nice weather was on store for the regatta.

Things kicked off with a Friday distance race with twenty-five boats on the line. While the wind was ten knots at the start, raising hopes for a solid race day, the wind waned through the race to become a bit of a drifter in the final leg. All the boats finished and got back to the dock by late afternoon. Following the skipper's meeting, a tasty pasta dinner was held with the daily prize giving ensuing. Place winners in each class enjoyed a bottle of Mount Gay Rum. The 31st Annual Stingray Light Race full results can be viewed on Regatta Network (31st Annual Stingray Light Race - Series Standing) https://www.regattanetwork.com/clubmgmt/applet_regatta_results.php?regatta_id=30331

The class winners were as follows:

Sportboats AO - One Trick Pony

PHRF A1 - Afterthought

PHRF A2 - Excitation

PHRF B - Goin'

PHRF C - Schiehallion

PHRF CC Non-Spin - Makai

PHRF CC Spin - Dianthus

RACING

Following a good night's sleep thirty-eight crews were set for the 31st Annual Stingray Point Regatta and the coveted Brenton S. Halsey, Jr. and Dick Cole's Memorial trophies. The winds had kicked up from the previous afternoon and were now blowing force four. Seas were building to four feet adding a challenge to the course, but also leading to a sporty day on the committee boats. The winds held up and three exhilarating races were held for both East and West courses. The tired crews made their way back to the docks to get ready for the main event of the night, a Viking Dinner and Party with lots of dancing to the tunes of the Crain Brothers. The decorations spearheaded by Julie Ann Wash, David Hinckle and Sally Branch were incredible featuring on-theme table decor, a Viking boat suspended from the main tent ceiling and a fire breathing dragon behind the stage. The food was great, and the music rocked. Many party goers dressed to the Viking theme adding to the fun. Even the kids also got into the Viking theme and went to the tattoo table. Most were tattooed head to toe.

Not so fresh from the Viking Party the crews headed out early Sunday morning for two more races. The wind had calmed a bit down to the mid-teens, and the seas had laid down making for another perfect day of racing. Two amazing races were held thanks to PRO's and crews of Len Guenther on the East course and Donna Alvis on the West course.

The boats arrived back at the dock by 2:00pm, put their boats up and enjoyed a grand taco bar and official Viking land games led by Meriwether Roberts while the final regatta standings were tabulated. The overall results can be found on Regatta Network (31st Annual Stingray Point Regatta: Fishing Bay Yacht Club).

https://www.regattanetwork.com/event/29061#_newsroom

The winners by class were as follows:

Sportboats AO - Sitella

PHRF A1 - Voodoo 2

PHRF A2 - MYRAGE

PHRF B - Shenanigan

PHRF C- Cheeky Monkey

PHRF CC Non-Spin - Dauntless

PHRF CC Spin - Red Sky

With the Halsey family members on hand to award the Brenton S.Halsey, Jr. Memorial Trophy, the team of Cheeky Monkey proudly stepped up to accept the award. Meanwhile, the Cole family was there to award the Dick Cole Memorial Trophy to the Red Sky team. And finally, the Sportsman Award was given by PRO Donna Alvis to the Lowe family team aboard Adelaide.

It was truly a memorable event both on and off the water. A big thanks to our sponsors and the many volunteers who made the event a success!

CRUISING

DITCHLEY CIDER WORKS CRUISE SEPTEMBER 20, 2025

Cathy Calhoun, co-owner Ditchley Cider Works (DCW) hosted 28 FBYC members and guests on 20 September, 2025. It was a gathering of great friends and celebration of the coming of Autum on Virginia's historic Northern Neck.

Some came by car. Crews of six (6) proper sailing yachts came ashore at the DCW dock. They strolled past a newly renovated guest house, a field of newly bailed hay, a field of grazing Galloway cattle, and an assortment of farm equipment to starboard, and apple orchards to port.

They arrived in minutes at the DCW party tent, tucked between the manor house and the Cidery (multiuse building including tasting room, guest rooms).

We were treated to appetizers, (some estate produced) and a cash bar as Cathy put on her chef's hat. The party had begun. The "happy hour" concluded with the crowning of the first annual Ditchley Growler Cup Race winner (Ron Ricci), a Ditchley/Northern Neck Triva contest and a group photo. The Growler Cup is patterned after the time-honored Wee Dram.

A wonderful meal, followed by an equally memorable dessert, capped off the evening.

Though the night had rapidly slipped away, Cathy graciously conducted a Manor House tour for eager first-time DCW visitors.

Stay tuned for next year. September is a magical month for the Chesapeake.

The FBYC Cruising Division will continue to invite and encourage members and guests of all divisions—including our Offshore Racers, Power boaters and automobile to enjoy this event.

The FBYC Cruising Division will continue to welcome all members and guests—including Offshore Racers, power boaters, and automobile enthusiasts—to this event.

WEE DRAM CRUISE RECAP THANK YOU HURRICANE ERIN!

In late August, Hurricane Erin threatened the US East Coast including Virginia. After much planning and anticipation, our Wee Dram event was in danger of being cancelled. Thankfully, Erin cooperated and moved further east leaving us with clear skies and good wind out of the north on Friday the 22nd when the majority of participants sailed to Cape Charles. I am not sure if records were set, but it seems likely. Six boats sailed the 21.5 NM course in under 3 hours.

Brad Miller on Schiehallion took first place (again), followed by Red Sky and then Lucky Star. In all, 23 sailboats and 2 powerboats made the trip to Cape Charles for what turned out to be a very fun event. Saturday's scotch tasting was competitive, the food was delicious, and the company was fabulous! Many thanks to all who helped organize and execute this cruise.
